Item 2. Relationships and Services

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer discretionary asset management services to retail investors. We provide customized portfolio management in accordance with the stated guidelines and objectives of the separately managed account.

We have been approved as sub-advisor to investment companies, each a series of the Tidal ETF Trust.

Discretionary. Providing discretionary services means, we will determine the following without consulting you, in advance:

- the securities to be bought or sold;
- the amount of securities to be bought or sold; and
- the broker or dealer to be used for a purchase or sale of securities.

However, we do not have discretion to determine the commission rates to be paid to a broker or dealer for your securities transactions. Commissions charged by the broker or dealer are set by the broker or dealer.

Monitoring. Our portfolios, accounts, and their holdings are continuously monitored for compliance with the stated guidelines, and we generally review deviations on an exception basis.

Account Minimums and Other Requirements. Our separate account services have a $1,000,000 minimum which is negotiable.

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

Item 3. Fees, Costs, Conflicts, and Standard of Conduct

What fees will I pay?

For our separate account strategies, our base fee is an annual fee of 0.85% of assets under management billed quarterly in arrears based on the beginning quarter Net Asset Value. Fees are subject to negotiation and may vary to reflect circumstances that apply to a specific client account. These fees are billed quarterly in advance based upon the market value of the client's account at the end of the previous quarter. Fees will be debited from the account in accordance with the client's written authorization.

As a registered investment advisor, we do not accept commissions or other incentive compensation and act as a fiduciary in the client relationship. It is important to understand the differences between our RIA structure and a typical broker-dealer, who may charge sales commissions and does not act as a fiduciary.

The more assets there are in your account with us, the more you will pay in fees, so we have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Finally, in addition to fees described above, clients will be required to bear all third-party investment-related fees and expenses associated with their accounts, including, without limitation, transaction commissions, margin and custodial and brokerage fees, sub-advisory fees, and expenses transfer taxes and other fees and expenses relating to transactions in their accounts. Custody and administration fees, to the extent applicable, are charged separately by the custodian or administrator and are in addition to the advisory fees payable to us.

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice, we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

Since we are paid based on assets under management there could be an incentive to deviate from our investment style to attempt to achieve higher performance. Separately, security recommendations or trades for our client accounts create potential conflicts as employees may invest in securities owned by clients. As such, our employees may have an incentive to give themselves priority when trading.
